Wild Brush Confirms Significant Solar Energy Deal with WAAREE Energies

Seattle, WA, Oct 27, 2011- Wild Brush Energy (WBRE) is pleased to announce the signing of an essential supplier of solar paneling and solar park development. WAAREE Energies has agreed to provide solar paneling and installation expertise for Wild Brush Energy Solar Park Projects up to at least 5 Mw in size.

WAAREE Energies has a state-of-the-art, modern automatic production line for Photo Voltaic solar modules in Mumbai India. The Company provides complete Turnkey solutions for SOLAR PV power plant development of any capacity for export to grid. WAAREE is presently providing its panels and engineering expertise to a 40 Mw project in Gujarat India.

A 5 Mw solar park would supply approximately 1600 households with renewable energy (6.5 GWh), and reduce carbon emissions by about 3800 tons annually. Global Solar production has been growing by nearly 30% per annum over the last 20 years. The industry generated over $38 billion in 2009 and is expected to reach $100 billion by 2014.

Wild Brush Energy is focusing on mid-size solar parks that range in size from 2-5 Mw in scale. The location of these parks will be in southern and southwest regions of the U.S. and southern European countries with favorable renewable energy policies and economic returns.
